DEDICATION

Mr. Eugene Clement

The spirit of dedication is the ultimate expression of heartfelt gratitude. It is the futile attempt to convey through thoughts a realization bigger than the written word.

So with this spirit and realization in mind we dedicate this, the 1961 Perkinson Yearbook, to a man who can be described only as Mr. Perk. The statements of his untiring and unselfish energy directed to the nourishment of the flower that is Perkinson become minute indeed. Minute in that words are not adequate to express his achievements and advancements in the field of education and devotion to a cause--Perkinson.

He is a maker of men and molder of character; an advocate of advancement and voice of virtue. He has the spirit of the new frontier imbedded in a mind of wisdom. And the hundreds of Perkinson students affected by this man leave with one eye filled with vision and one hand grasping wisdom.

The annual staff, the faculty, and student body humble in expression but sincere in thought, dedicate the 1961 Yearbook to Mr. Eugene Clement--a prodigy of reality in our finest hour.

President's Message

Dear Students,

Perkinston Junior College is here to serve the educational needs of the young adults of South Mississippi.

Education should be a continuing thing, where one learns from experiences of life. Our institution of higher learning is, in reality, an arena where students are prepared for the contests to come in later life. Under the direction of skilled teachers, students are exposed to experiences which will furnish background for future decisions; they are given information which they can adopt to their particular needs; they are encouraged to develop skills and habits which will make them assets to their community.

It is our sincere hope that Perk has become an integral part of you, and that we have awakened in you a desire to learn throughout your life.

Sincerely,

J. J. Hayden, Jr.
